

World Sacred Music Festival

Olympia, Washington, USA

60-second Public Service Announcement:

On Saturday March 7, the World Sacred Music Festival returns to Olympia. The fifth annual festival is a family-friendly celebration of the sacred music and dance of our planet. Two stages showcase performances of Taiko drumming, Sufi dance, gospel singing, klezmer music, and much more.

Sponsored in part by the Washington State Arts Commission, the festival also features interactive workshops including didgeridoo playing and Indian temple dancing, as well as ethnic foods, dozens of vendors selling fair trade items from around the world, a gallery of sacred visual artwork, and plentiful free parking.

The World Sacred Music Festival takes place at South Puget Sound Community College's Minnaert Center for the Arts from 11am to 9pm on Saturday March 7. Tickets are available at BuyOlympia.com, Rainy Day Records, and Traditions Fair Trade. For more details, call 360-357-7224 or visit www.olsacredmusic.org.

---

For more information, photos, or interview possibilities with festival organizers or performers, contact:

Scott Stevens, WSMF Artistic Director
Phone: 360-259-1682
scott@earball.net

Kathy Erlandson, Interfaith Works Executive Director
Phone: 360-357-7224 (office hours M-F 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.)
interfaithworks@comcast.net